622 Five Documents Published at San Luis Potosí Concerning the War Includes:[1]Ya vuelve la libertad. Letrilla.San Luis Potosí: Imprenta del gobierno, á cargo de Ventura Carrillo, 1845. Broadside in two columns: 33 x 21 cm. Undated but after December, 1844. First Edition. First edition. A satirical poem that expresses misgivings about the return of Federalists to power in the person of President Herrera. Expresses the fear that the country will lose its wealth and everyone will be eating cactus. Attacks different beliefs, such as those of Luther. A highly unusual publication that appeared just as war was on the horizon.Light horizontal crease, top and bottom margins lightly chipped.[2]EI Gobernador del estado a sus habitantes. Sabed. Que por el Ministerio de Hacienda se me ha comunicado el decreto que sigue. [San Luis Potosí, 1847]. Dated in type March 27, 1847, and April 3, 1847. Broadside: 31.5 x 21 cm. Later Edition. Allows the government by various means to raise 20,000,000 pesos. Right margin slightly irregular, light horizontal crease.[3] El Gobernador del Estado de San Luis Potosi, á sus conciudadanos.[San Luis Potosí, 1847]. Dated in type August 25, 1847. Broadside: 31.5 x 22 cm. First Edition. Announces that Mexico City is on the verge of falling and urges greater patriotism among the citizens: "Aun laten en nuestros pechos los sentimentos sublimes de honor y patriotismo; aun arde inestinguible en nuestros corazones el sacrosanto fuego de la libertad!"All margins tape stained, right margin and lower right margin chipped,[4] Aviso muy importante,[San Luis Potosí, 1847]. Dated in type August 25, 1847. Broadside: 32 x 22 cm. On embossed paper. First Edition. A mournful, astonished announcement of the fall of "la hermosa Capital de la República." This announcement is bizarrely premature, since Scott did not enter the city until September 14. At this point not even the important battles of Molino del Rey and Chapultepec had been fought.[5]Ultimas noticias de Jalapa y Nuevo-Mexico, a deguello de los Yankies.San Luis Potosí: Imprenta del estado en palacio, á cargo de Ventura Carillo, 1847. Broadside: 21.5 x 15.5 cm. Undated.Reprints news from two sources. The first from Orizaba reports that Scott is ill and has no intention of advancing on Puebla. The second, from Durango, seems to be a report of a successful Taos Rebellion, which had already been suppressed. The second report ends with the sentiment, "Ojala que sea verdad." Both are false, however. Interesting examples of Mexican propaganda.Lower margin chipped and stained. Est. 10 - 100 623 Two Laws Concerning Ships and the American Naval Blockade Includes: Ministerio de Hacienda. Seccion 1a[caption title]. [Mexico City, 1846]. [2] [2, blank] pp. Dated in type July 10, 1846. 12mo (22 x 17 cm), folded sheet. First edition. Allows for entry of foreign and Mexican ships from foreign ports into alternate ports such as Tuxpan, Soto la Marina, and Manzanillo while the American blockade has closed other ports. Establishes customs facilities in the alternate ports. Ministerio de Hacienda. Seccion primera.[Mexico City, 1846]. Dated in type September 11, 1846. [1] [3, blank] pp. 12mo (21 x 15.5 cm), folded sheet.First edition. "One of the uncommon decrees concerning an interesting phase of the war-the blockade of Mexican ports by American naval forces. In this one the government extends privileges of lightened taxes on the vessels which do manage to get through the blockade" (Eberstadt). Two laws that reflect the growing desperation of the Mexican government to acquire both supplies and revenues from imports. The American naval blockade had basically choked off both. Est. 10 - 100

652	Three Michoacán Broadsides Concerning the Mexican War Includes:Ocampo, Melchor. El Gobernador del estado de Michoacán, á todos sus habitantes, sabed: que. [Morelia, 1847]. Dated in type July 5, 1847. Broadside: 32 x 22 cm. On embossed paper. First Edition. The governor comments on "la gran dificultad que se hà presentado para la consecucion de caballos proprios para la guerra, sin embargo que los agentes de este gobierno han presentadose á buscarlos con el dinero suficiente para su pago inmediato." As a consequence of that lack, the government imposes a requirement that people contribute one horse and rider based on a complicated formula concerning personal wealth. The horses had to be a certain height, be between five and eight years old, and of "colores obscuros." Old stab holes in left margin, otherwise very good. Ocampo, Melchor. El Gobernador del estado de Michoacán, á todos sus habitantes, sabed: que. [Morelia, 1847]. Dated in type July 10, 1847. Broadside: 32 x 22.5 cm. First Edition. The government demands that any treaty with the United States include the provision that all American forces evacuate the country and that complete indemnification be paid. Old stab holes in left margin, right margin a little chipped, otherwise very good. Ortiz de Ayala, Joaquín. El Vice Gobernador del estado de Michoacán, en ejercicio del supremo poder ejecutivo, à todos sus habitantes, sabed que el Congreso del mismo estado à decretado lo que sigue. [Morelia, 1847].
